Trident Nuclear Weapons

Dear ...

We believe that nuclear weapons have no place in a modern world. They do not prevent war. They kill indiscriminately. They cost enormous sums of money that could be better spent on alleviating poverty and creating jobs. The majority of Scots are opposed to them. I intend to make the future of Trident a key issue in my choice about whom to vote for in the General Election.

Can you please tell me whether, if elected, you would vote for or against the replacement of Trident ?

Yours sincerely,

Cardinal Keith Patrick O'Brien

Right Reverent William Hewitt,
Moderator of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland

Isobel Lindsay,
Convenor, Scotland's for Peace
